Beginning in June 1864 it ran troops and supplies from New Orleans to Vicksburg and in August came under attach near Natchez Mississippi. It snagged and sunk in just ten feet of water south of Portland Missouri on November 18, 1864. The first example of this variety I have seen offered, an MS63 of the more common -10a variety brought $1,375 in my December 2008 auction. From the Henry South collection from Ken Trobaugh May 1970.
